THE LADY IN THE TOY STORE

Once upon a time a lady entered a toy-store. After examining the goods she said to the proprietor: "I come here Christmas after Christmas and find the same old toys—the same old rocking-horses, the same old dolls. I do not understand how you sell them."

The proprietor answered: "It is true they are the same old toys; but you must remember that there are always new babies."

CROSS' is not a toy-store, and while many new babies come in, they are old enough to want something new.

At CROSS' new goods are an old story. The novelties from our English factories come and go so quickly that one is reminded of the infant's epitaph:

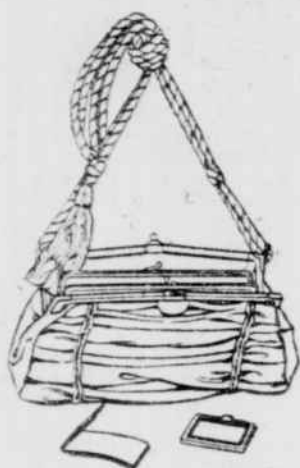

"I wonder what I was begun for
When I was so early done for."

CROSS designers ransack the capitals of Europe for ideas which our factories may adapt and improve for American use.

The merchant who is dependent upon the talents of one country is like the individual who, in a house of many and beautiful rooms, lives in but one—and that one may be the nursery.

To be honest is commonplace, but to advertise that you are honest requires genius, courage—and money. Even Truth needs adornment, and that is why CROSS guarantees the truth of their advertisements to the New-York Tribune, who in turn guarantees them to its readers.
